A keen breeze developed in the afternoon to knock the edge off times for the final 10 mile time trial of the season. The popular Salcey course, in it's first year, attracted 18 riders keen to have one last attempt before many will hang their wheels up until next season. Race favourite Liam Stones was last man off and returning with the best time out of the club riders despite being delayed a few seconds by a shipped chain. Justin Garon, 5 secs back, had a excellent ride along with junior Ed Palfreeman who despite his light stature handled the cross and side winds well.

Eight guest riders, many riding the course for the first time, was headed by Stuart Wright just taking the overall win by 1 second.

One last event remains for those with a head for hills, 18th September at 10:30 am for the hill climb.
